It is unprofessional and frivolous to compare the intelligence of a woman with that of a man and draw any conclusions about both based on this comparison. We can do it, but it does not give us anything, a man with his unique qualities becomes a man, and a woman becomes a woman. Hence, when women say that they are dumber than men, indicating that there are very few geniuses among women who have made a name for themselves in history, comparing a washing machine to a computer makes the computer smarter. Men and women are made for different purposes, you know? Comparing them to each other is not correct. A man, no matter how great he is, cannot give birth to a child and continue humanity, he has not even learned how to clone men or how to do without women. But a woman gives life to this world, not without the help of a man, of course, but she gives birth to a child, and if she is a real woman, then she raises her child properly. So in this world, men do their jobs and women do their jobs, and again, they complement each other. Nature has its own purposes for men and women. Well, we can break or improve our lives the way we want, we can fight for equality, we can distribute responsibilities among ourselves, or we can develop different rules for women and men - this is our own game. And nature, through instincts, still requires from us what she needs, for which she created us, and then from us.

There are also such qualities as pride and incompatibility. Through emotions, a female representative perceives the world. Everything that happens around is perceived more sharply than men. In the event of a conflict, the spouse or boyfriend should take responsibility. They always want to show that they can solve all the problems themselves (this is how pride manifests itself). If the situation stops, then the confrontation will begin.

If you read the psychology of women on the Internet, then the most popular secret of the female half of the world is that they always love to gossip. This is because women are very emotional, so they need to share energy with other people. It is important for them to talk about their experience, to share their thoughts. That is why women strive for harmony and support among their loved ones. Women often use manipulative methods to achieve their goals. This behavior goes down the female line. Women representatives try not to express their desires openly, they build a chain of events in such a way that other people want to act voluntarily. In particular, manipulations are often used in everyday life. Another secret of female psychology is that women constantly monitor their appearance. They rejoice in the astonished glances of other people. They want men to appreciate their clothes and uniforms. For the sake of praise, they are ready to wear intricate hairstyles and uncomfortable shoes.

If you read psychology online, you can understand that women's thoughts and their behavior are presented to men as a whole scientific knowledge. Understanding the psychological aspects ensures harmony in future relationships. Women need more attention than men. That is why they love to receive gifts and listen to compliments addressed to them. Girls love mainly by ear, for them the male voice, its intonation and words coming from the lips of a lover are important. The behavior of female representatives is often driven by an emotional component. Some of their actions may contradict the logical explanation. Here, a thin line looms in the relationship - complete submission to a woman and her whims, or a manifestation of one's will and character. On the one hand, girls do not like rebellious people, on the other hand, they demand to be heard, and also believe that they are right in all situations.
